Flooding, Monterey and San Benito Counties

On 12/04/19 at 1646 hours, the California State Warning Center was alerted to an initial report of levee break near the town of Chualar, Monterey County. County OES reviewed Satellite maps and confirmed no levees are in the area.

- The National Weather Service reported thunderstorm in the area which caused the flooding
- No reports of damage or threat to life
- All county officials were notified by Monterey OES
- EOC not activated, all needs are being met at the field level

Evacuations

- San Benito County Skilled Nursing Facility evacuation:
 - A backup of a main drain on a public street caused flooding at the Mabie Northside Skilled Nursing Facility.
 - 47 patients were moved to either Mabie Southside Skilled Nursing Facility or Hazel Hawkins Memorial Hospital.
 - Mabie Northside Skilled Nursing Facility will remain closed for remediation due to the flooding.
 - Monterey County Public and Environmental Health conducted health and safety inspections to determine what steps need to be conducted prior to allowing re-entry for patients and are awaiting the results of that testing. Unknown ETA of completion at this time, County OES will provide updates.
 - Residents are able to be cared for in their current new locations and they are not looking to transfer patients to any other facilities.

School Closures

- Chualar schools and Gonzales schools were closed today.
- Gonzales schools are expected to open tomorrow.
- Chualar High school is expected to remain closed due to power and water intrusion issues.

WEATHER OF CONCERN

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

- Heavy, wet snow expected for portions of the Greater Lake Tahoe Area, Lassen-Eastern Plumas-Eastern Sierra Counties and Mono County from 1600 hours Friday to noon Sunday.
 - Total snow accumulations of an inch up to 12 inches for elevations between 5,500 to 7,000 feet including around Lake Tahoe.
 - 1 to 3 feet above 7,000 feet including around the Sierra passes and Mammoth, with locally higher amounts possible.
 - Winds gusting as high as 70 to 90 mph on the Sierra ridges and wind prone areas with gusts in the 30 to 40 mph range for lower elevations.
- Heavy snow expected for Western Plumas County/Lassen Park and West Slope Northern Sierra Nevada from 1600 hours Friday to 1300 hours Sunday.
 - Travel will be very difficult to impossible.
 - Damage to trees and power lines is possible.
 - Total snow accumulations of 1 to 3 feet, with locally higher amounts exceeding 4 feet possible.
- A Flash Flood Watch has been issued for the Kincade Fire burn area in northern Sonoma County from 1600 hours Friday to 0400 hours Saturday as a potent cold front is forecast to impact the region.
 - Storm total rainfall of 2 to 4 inches along with the potential for excessive rainfall rates may lead to rockslides, debris flows, and flash flooding in the burn area and locations downstream of the scar.
- Low pressure will bring an extended period of breezy to windy conditions across the far northern area through Saturday. The winds will come in two separate surges, one tonight into Friday morning, then another late Friday into Saturday. The strongest winds will impact the Shasta Valley.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

- The next in a series of storms is expected to impact Southwest California Friday through Sunday. Rain could begin as early as Friday afternoon across San Luis Obispo County, then spread across the remainder of Southwest California Friday night.
 - The bulk of the moisture and energy with the storm will be focused across Central California, with San Luis Obispo County expected to receive the highest rainfall amounts, generally between 0.50 and 1.00 inches, with local amounts up to 2.00 inches in the northwest foothills.
 - From Santa Barbara to Los Angeles county, rainfall amounts are expected to receive less than 0.50 inches.
 - The snow levels will remain high, generally above 7,000 feet.
 - This system will also have south to southeast winds gusting 20 to 50 mph, strongest in San Luis Obispo County.
